Robert Pyke

Robert has a professional background that covers consumer goods, consultancy and now crypto. The majority of Robert's career was spent at top consumer goods company, Unilever, where he worked in a variety of finance roles, rising to become Finance Director for Unilever's €20bn Beauty and Personal Care division.

Robert has extensive leadership experience in financial planning and analysis, M&A and controlling with a track record of delivering major change projects, growth and profitability improvement. From successful business acquisitions to delivering back-office transformations Robert has led numerous complex and valuable business initiatives. Since leaving Unilever, Robert has founded his own consulting business and is now the CEO for The Aziza Project.

Shakes Motsilili

Shakes has an Investments Administration background and worked for Momentum Wealth as Head of Actuarial Support. He resigned in 2012 to become an entrepreneur with a vision to electrify the whole of Africa, a topic he has expounded eloquently during a recent TED Talk.

Shakes has been active in the energy sector over the past six years, and has been particularly interested in finding ways for the private sector to fund high risk startups, something he is striving to achieve as CEO of Alumni Energy Investment, a Venture Capital Company. He is mainly focused in South Africa and neighbouring countries initially, with an outlook to later expand to the rest of the continent.

Token Economics

Tokens being sold at $0.10 to raise $60m.

This would fund a drilling program with Africa New Energies.

Success would create value.

Proving the resource would get the token value over $1.
